VIGILANT WON

Lord Dunraven's Cup Challenger
Hopelessly Beaten.

The Race Never in Doubt—Stake Was Turned.

THE DEFENDER TURNS OUT TO BE A
A VERY SWIFT BOAT.

Valkyrie. Beautifully Handled. Crossed the Line First and Assumed the Lead—
In Half an Hour Vigilant Overhauled
Her and Turned the Stake Eight Minutes to the Good.

New York, Oct. 7.—When the sun rose this morning through the mist, a fleet of pretty yachts, large and small, rocked peacefully at anchor off the Atlantic Yacht Club house at Bay Ridge, opposite State Island. There was the millionaire yacht Valiant of the Vandebilt, having the family of Lord Dunraven on board and there was the tiny catboat, owned by most anyone who wanted her.

Also present at that anchorage were the two gallant contestants, Vigilant, the pride of the United States, and Valkyrie, the hope of Great Britain; the one a thing of beauty in white; the other a beautifying in black; both graceful, but each determined to be the best, almost for the aquatic championship of the world.

But before any kind of a sunny appearance overspread the leaden blue skies, the crews of these two rival yachts, as well as the crews of the other craft that were astir and doing. Last night the weather prophets said that there was every probability that there would be plenty of wind to day—too much, perhaps—with rain and a nasty day generally. It rained all night. This morning, however, at 8 o'clock the weather indications about Bay Ridge and Staten Island are for clear day with little wind. A foggy haze hangs over the bay and rivers, and the neighborhood generally is under a cloud of moisture. But the weather prophet says there is plenty of wind coming.

LET THE EAGLE SCREAM.

Half an hour after the start the yachts were half a mile apart, but drawing closer together, Vigilant heading down towards Valkyrie.

At 12:22 o'clock both yachts were headed to the southward and Vigilant, moving swift and true as a bird in flight, passed Valkyrie as though she were anchored. She turned and coming up into the wind, fell in astern of the Valkyrie. The English yacht immediately tacked and the spectators breathlessly watched the game as it was applied to the shape of night sessions in the theater of war.

The Vigilant pulled up and the Valkyrie passed across her bow. The Vigilant let out her balloon jib in the style and fell away just astern of Valkyrie.

The preparation gun was fired at 11:15 o'clock. Both yachts were standing in shore on starboard tack, Vigilant to landward. Both came about at the same time on the port tack. The Vigilant moved about and coming up into the wind, fell in astern of the Valkyrie. The English yacht immediately tacked and the spectators breathlessly watched the game as it was applied to the shape of night sessions in the theater of war.

The Vigilant pulled up and the Valkyrie passed across her bow. The Vigilant let out her balloon jib in the style and fell away just astern of Valkyrie.

Both yachts were headed to the southward and Valkyrie, the English, was leading.

Between these lines of policy the Republicans are halting, but it is believed the majority are not holding the responsibility of the situation to rest on the shoulders of the Democratic majority.

At 12:48 the two yachts, leaving Staten Island, were heading down towards Valkyrie.

At 12:50 p.m. the Vigilant was leading by over a mile. After passing the station Valkyrie set her spinnaker. She was seven minutes behind.

At 1 o'clock the sun was striking full on main sails of the racers. Both cutters were running at full speed and opened in a clear length of 100 yards before the crowds on the shore. The Valkyrie was leading.

At 1:15 p.m. the Vigilant, unless something went wrong, will be first.

Vigilant turned at the stake at 1:30. She turned and went back to the southward and starboard tack. The boats passed each other, Vigilant beating to windward, while Valkyrie was bound to the port tack. The wind was from the west, so the windward, the Vigilant, unless something goes wrong, will be first.

At 1:30 p.m. the Vigilant was coming back to the eastward and maintaining her lead and outpointing Valkyrie.

VIGILANT HOPEFULLY BEATEN.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The Vigilant, which was prepared, at so much per head to give the enterprising citizen on yachting a day of life on the ocean blue, with accompaniments of frothy beer and cast-iron sandwiches at starvation prices.

The fact that fog at least and possibly rain might interfere with the day's sport had no terror or drawbacks to the citizens of Gotham who had his mind fixed on seeing the yacht race, even if his experience was similar to that of the Thursday last. His heart was in the battle; his hopes and his belief were centered on the Vigilant and on the glorious flag she sailed under, and he determined to see that flag triumph, even if an attack of pneumonia and a consumptive pocketbook were the results of his patriotism. But the weather prophet smiled upon Gotham and by 8 o'clock there were prospects of a clear day. Shortly afterwards, however, it began to cloud up and the sky was overcast.

As to betting, there is little or none done as yet, but Sandy Hook, where little money was placed had its big end on the Vigilant for laying patriotism aside, the verdict, up to a short time before the start, was that the American right can and will win.

On Staten Island is Ben Riddell, owner of the New York Highlands and at Sandy Hook, the same old crowds seem to be gathered. In fact, on the excursion steamers the same people seem to be on board with open glass all on the same errand bent, all determined to have a good day's fun on the ocean, even if it is another day's work.

AT LAST A BREKKE.

The wind at 8 o'clock was blowing from the southwest at the rate of twelve miles an hour. The wind at Sandy Hook at 8:30 had a velocity of ten miles an hour.

By 9:15 a.m. the sky had cleared beautifully and splendid day for yachting seemed assured. This brought out the biggest crowds yet seen in a yacht race, and as the wind was so strong, the weather was very hazy and confident that this would be a day of days and that before the sun set the Vigilant and Valkyrie would be the winners of the first series of five races for the America's cup.

The scenes down the bay at 9:30 this morning were little more than mere shadows of the drowsy feel joyful. The sun was shining with dazzling brightness, the ratio of light to dark was almost equal, every point of vantage was crowded black with people, the bands upon the flag-bedded excursion boats and the clear mounding air the liveliest strains of patriotic harmony they were capable of producing, and the sunburned faces of the spectators.

As to the weather, there was an air of enjoyment.

Designs were made to bring in the

SENATOR MANDERSON'S PREDICTION.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 7.—Senator Voorhees has definitely notified the Senate to-day that, commencing on Wednesday next, he will ask the Senate to sit continuously until a vote had been reached on the pending measure and that he would expect Senators to maintain a quorum until the end of the present contest was reached.

"I might say more," he said, "but more is unnecessary. I give this notice in order that Senators may govern themselves accordingly in the performance of the duty they owe to the public."

Mr. Roach (Dem.) or Maryland then addressed the Senate in favor of the repeal.

SENATOR MANDERSON'S PREDICTION.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 7.—Senator Manderson authorizes the statement that it is his opinion that the test of physical endurance to be applied in the shape of night sessions in the theater of war.

The ninth week of the extraordinary sessions of the Senate on the silver purchase re-bill closes to day, leaving still as uncertain

as ever what the roll will come to a decisive vote. One phase of the question is whether

HUNTING A BRUTE.

Pursuit of the Negro Who Assailed Miss Agnes Barr.

FORT SCOTT WILL WITNESS A LYNCHING WHEN HE IS CAUGHT.

All Night Armed Men Patrolled and Guarded Streets and Adjacent Country Roads—The Fiend's Work Much More Brutal Than First Reported—Reward Offered by the Governor.

Mr. SCOTT, Kan., Oct. 7.—The family of Miss Agnes Barr, the girl who was outraged in this city yesterday in broad daylight, succeeded in suppressing the real facts and intense brutality of the assault until this morning. The negro brutally lacerated the girl's body. He struck her with his fist and kicked her in the side and stomach, and when leaving he dragged her to the door and compelled her to kiss him good-by, saying he would probably never see her again.

The outskirts of the city were guarded all night long by hundreds of armed men who thought the fiend would attempt to escape. All are now that he is hiding somewhere about town. Possessing an underground and many other secret places, Mayor Goodlander has issued a hand bill offering a reward for the capture of the criminal.

Three arrests have been made and the prisoners were taken to the girl's bedside for identification, but she acquited them.

The indignation of the people has not relaxed by the lapse of twenty-four hours, and they are aching for the capture of the villain. The Missouri Pacific shops are entirely shut down to-day, and the men are on the hunt.

A colored man giving his name as Asa Clasby expressed a satchel to Kansas City an hour after the assault, and suspicion rests upon him. He left on a freight train for Kansas City, and the police were telephoned to watch him when he called at the post office for his package. The unfortunate girl is a cousin of General George J. H. Emmert of the Kansas City, Fort Scott & Memphis road, and her mother was visiting in Kansas City at the time of the assault.

CHARGED WITH THE WARRANT CRIME.

WICHITA, Kan., Oct. 7.—Three arrests were made last night of men charged with the recent butchery of the Warren family of six near this place a few days ago. The men are Lou Williams, Oscar Brown and William Kays, all farmers living in this vicinity. The prisoners were taken to Jeffersonville and placed in the penitentiary this morning. Their removal was due to fear of lynching. Marshal Cavanagh, who had charge of the prisoners, says that while the evidence against them is strong, it is not so strong that they cannot escape conviction. The suspected men are illiterate, and their attorneys for the defense are not up to date in the construction of the law which the Warrens had, but which they failed to find.

A DOCTOR CHARGED WITH MURDER.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 7.—Dr. W. J. Hecker, proprietor Mineral Hill Springs Sanitarium, near Tate Springs, Granger County, one of the most prominent physicians in East Tennessee, was arrested this morning and charged with having administered medicines and performed a surgical operation on an infant child of Mattie Mason, who caused the death of the baby. He denied the charges and the doctor's arrest ordered by the jury.

Rewards for Criminals.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 7.—Gov. Stone to-day offered a reward of $200 for the apprehension and delivery to the sheriff of Clinton County, Mo., of James J. Miller, fugitive for grand larceny, who escaped from jail. Also a reward of $200 each for the arrest and conviction of the miscreants who murdered Dr. John G. Thompson, president of the San Francisco Railroad wrecked at a train at Mo., Sept. 20, causing the death of the engineer and fireman.

THE WRATTEN FAMILY MURDERS.

WASHINGTON, Ind., Oct. 7.—Warrants for the arrest of Lou Williams and Bill Caine, charged with the Wratten family murder, are in the hands of two sets of officers who have gone to serve them and were to wire to the police when they were to be arrested. The two were to be taken to Jeffersonville, whether they were to take the prisoners to avoid danger of lynching parties. No news has been received, and it is believed that they have met with resistance in the arrest or have been intercepted by a mob.

ROBERT THE DEPT TILL.

MACON, Mo., Oct. 7.—While the Wabash passenger agent was at dinner, two men giving their names as Thomas Hanovan, aged 25, and Vernon Hart, aged 21, broke in to the depot office and stole $50 from the money drawer. The thieves were soon captured, and $40 was recovered at the Hotel Meadows, and $40 of the money recovered. They are now in jail. The preliminary hearing will be next Monday.

WENT WIDE OF THE MARK.

BERLIN, Oct. 7.—A retired army officer of high rank visited the home of Frederick Haricus, editor of the Argus, last night and without warning, drew a revolver and shot him. The shot went through the heart and Haricus was only slightly wounded.

The affair grew out of the editor's remarks concerning our countrymen, and Haricus was recently fined 1,000,000 marks for libeling her.

THREE IN THE TOILE.

APPLETON, Wis., Oct. 7.—The Sheriff has just captured Alfred Bonahon and George Detoy, the two men who gashed, brutally beat and robbed Thomas McGillican, an old farmer residing at Fenter, Wis., Wednesday night. They saturated his clothing and the furniture with coal oil and tried to burn him alive. The farmer had given up all hope over the affair and there is some talk of lynching.

THREE STANDING SHOT.

DETROIT, Oct. 7.—Some days ago a bullet passed through the rear window of R. A. Douglas' dry goods store last night at 12 o'clock. It blew the whole front of the store and the rear wall was badly damaged. The windows were shattered and all the goods in the rear were badly burned. There is no trace of the thrower.

WANTED FOR MURDER.

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 7.—Wm. Neath, alias Foster, alias Decrane, alias Davis, wanted in Milwaukee for the murder of John Peterson during the Turnverein celebration in that city July 20 last, was arrested at the post office this morning when seeking for his mail. He made a desperate attempt to escape, was overpowered before he could reach the street.

THOMPSON REPRISE.

HURON, S. D., Oct. 7.—Gov. Sheldon has reprieved N. G. Thompson, who was to be hung at Duhamet, S. D., to-day, for the murder of Mrs. Brighton.

FAIR WEEK SUSPECTS.

Cleaning Up of the First District Police Court Docket.

The docket of the First-District Police Court underwent a cleaning up process today at the expense of suspicious characters who were arrested during the week and held on various charges until fair week would be over.

Fred Scott, John McGrath and Thomas Barrett were fined $10 each for selling, and Edward Murphy, $5, for leaving town. The case against Eddie Williams, charged with idling, was nolle prossed.

Edward Murphy and Joseph Murphy were fined $10 for beggary. Tom Scruggins, charged with adultery, was discharged.

Surprised Choir.

The surprised choir of the Church of St. Paul the Apostle, Finney and Pendleton avenues, will assist at the services to-morrow at 10 a.m. for the first time. The choir, consisting of 120 voices, will render the introit, the Gradual, the Alleluia, the post-communion and the responses to the mass.

They will also sing the hymns and the organ will play.

Rev. Edward Murphy and Joseph Murphy will dedicate the church Nov. 20.

OFFERS NO REASON.

Fred G. Hadlach Cannot Account for His Deed Last Evening.

HE THINKS HE MUST HAVE BEEN TEMPORARILY INSANE.

His Account of His Daring Attempt to Rob Capt. E. W. Sinclair, Treasurer of the East St. Louis Jockey Club, of $784—Warrant for Highway Robbery Taken Out Against Him To-Day.

Shortly after Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Erp opened his office this morning Capt. E. W. Sinclair, secretary and treasurer of the East St. Louis Jockey Club, swore out a warrant for robbery in the first degree against Fred G. Hadlach, the young railroad engineer who last night relieved him in a daring manner of a safe containing nearly $800 belonging to the club. Photographer Newbold this morning took the prisoner's photograph, which will in future adorn Chief Desmond's "rogue's gallery."

The robbery perpetrated by Hadlach was reported to the police at 12.30 a.m. shortly before 6 o'clock last night he entered the office of the East St. Louis Jockey Club, on the third floor of the Globe-Democrat Building, Sixth and Pine streets, and presenting a revolver at Capt. Sinclair's head, seized a bag which had just been brought over from the track and which contained the day's gate receipts. Capt. Sinclair grappled with the intruder, but, during the struggle, tripped over a clock lying on the floor and was thrown. The robber escaped, carrying the safe, and dashed out of the building and down the street, hotly pursued by Capt. Sinclair and a number of citizens, who were attracted by cries of "Stop thief!" The robber ran through the alley in the rear of the building to Chestnut street, the east end of Chestnut street to the alley facing the Laclede Hotel, down which he dashed to Pine street, running along Pine street to Broadway along which he went to the O. & M. railroad ticket office, No. 101. The door of the office was open and the fugitive hurried through and took refuge in a rear room where he hid himself behind a row of old boxes. The bag containing the money he threw into a corner of the room. Several hundred persons had joined in the chase of the fleeing man and were close upon heels when he was run to cover and these rapidly surrounded the building, precluding all possibility of escape. Police officers were soon on the scene and in a few seconds the daring thief was in custody.

At the station the prisoner gave his name as Fred Haven and his home as Montpelier, Vt. A few hours after being locked up, however, he was identified as Fred G. Hadlach, living at 8435 Franklin avenue and employed as engineer for the O. & M. Railroad. He is 24 years old, married and the father of a two-weeks-old baby. His father is an old railroad man and is the agent for the Boston Stock Car Co.

HADLACH'S STORY.

When seen in the holdover this morning Hadlach was naturally in a very disturbed state of mind. His father and mother had just visited him, and the sight of them and of their grief at his position, which they were able to several times induce him to tell of his portion of the story, put him under some pressure to induce him to speak of the robbery, and when he at last did so it was to tell the truth. I don't know what I came to do such a thing," he said, when at last persuaded to talk. "All year long I seem to have been in the mist, and the circumstances of the robbery are in remembrance like a horrid nightmare. I had no desire to commit a robbery, but the devil must have put the idea in my heart. I acted on an impulse that I cannot understand, and when he came to me and said, 'Come with me,' I have remained my senses. Where the idea first seized me I cannot remember. I have really no accurate knowledge of what I was doing or what I did. All I know is that I went to Capt. Sinclair's office and told him I wanted to rob him. I did not do it, but I cannot remember why. I guess Capt. Sinclair knew it all and tells the truth. The first thing of which I have any clear recollection is when we got to the officer who struck me over the eye while two other officers were holding me. The blow which was quite unexpected, seemed to recall my wandering senses. Since then I have only been too much afraid to speak of it.

Hadlach's story was told in a fairly connected manner. When talking to the reporter he was very frank and was reported to be in a chair in the hold-over kitchen. ## WORK OF A BURGLAR.

A Fire at C. E. Wells' House Supposed to Have Been Caused by a Thief.

Mr. C. E. Wells, chief deputy in police inspector's office, appeared at the City Hall this morning with one hand in a sling and a badly burned and charred forearm, the result of a fire at his house, No. 2728 Evans avenue, last night. Mr. Wells states that about 7:30 o'clock last night, while he was reading the Post-Dispatch he was startled by a cry from his wife of the second floor. She told him to come up quick, the house was on fire. He rushed upstairs and discovered a small fire in the cracks and crevices of the closet where the clothes were kept. He pulled open the door and the flames shot out in his face. In removing a coat from a hook he fell and was horribly burned.

Two other fires were started. Mr. Wells came to pay him a visit just at this time and the three succeeded in extinguishing the fire. He then called the police and discovered that Mrs. Wells and one child were safe. Mrs. Wells was almost new and costly.

Mr. Wells can account for it on no other theory except that a burglar was in the house at the time. They say he is a Chicago woman who came to see what was in the closet accidentally set fire to some of the clothing. This suspect is not out by some of the neighbors, who say they saw a man leave the house hurriedly at the time of the excitement.

A CHICAGOAN'S CHARGE.

Principal Stevenson Replies to the Allegations of a Dealer in Blackboards.

Some commotion has been occasioned in School Board circles by a man named J. W. Hill who has a formula for blackboard slating, and wants the contracts for blackening the interior walls of the city's school houses. Just who Hill is or where he conducts his business nobody around the Board of Education knows, although they say he is a Chicago woman who holds the contract for making the boards for the school children to mark up with chalk at the meeting of the building committee last night. Mr. Stevenson, the Principal Stevenson of the Clay School would have recommended the letting of the contract to him if he had been ready to do so, but the committee requested him to substantiate the claim at the next meeting. To-day Hill could not be reached. Mr. Stevenson said, "Architect Kirchner introduced Mr. Hill to me a few weeks ago, and said that Hill had a formula for blacking school houses, and wanted to make a sample at my school. I said I needed some work done, and Hill came out and showed me what the fault could be remedied by the application of a preparation he had. I watched him and a piece of carpet, with which he had his man rub the black of the walls. I was much provoked at his duping, and refused to recommend his work or have anything to do with him, although he persisted in his claim. I suppose he got angry and tried to retaliate by making that statement last night. Now he is a bigger man than I am, and I suppose he will be ready to do so again, but I would like mighty well to try."

Contractor McAdow says that Hill is not a reliable man and portions of the walls which he (McAdow) had plastered preparatory to doing the work himself under his contract. "When I took out this I put my hands on the back of his neck and said, 'I know all about Mr. Hill and his work.'

The contract for repairing the blackboards of the school buildings is given to the lowest bidder a year and is let to the lowest bidder without reference to the recommendations of principals of schools.

SOCIETY OF PEDAGOGY SECTIONS.

Their First Meeting Is Held To-Day—Good Attendance.

Several weeks ago the St. Louis Society of Pedagogy formed what it called sections "for the prolonged study of education and other themes immediately involved therein."

The plan provides for meetings of the sections on Saturday, when lectures would be given on the themes chosen for the various associations. The first section meetings were held yesterday at the City School, and called out a very large attendance of school principals and teachers. Sec. 1, whose theme is "Pedagogy," sec. 2, "Psychology," sec. 3, "History," sec. 4, "Science," sec. 5, "Art," respectively, were in session. George E. Schaeffer, president of the society, Dr. H. R. Kroll, Manual Training School, "Service;" Amelia C. Fruechte, High Service; and others were present. The meeting was manifested in the studies and the new scheme promises to become very popular.

TO CHECK AN EPIDEMIC.

Indiana State Authorities Co-operating to Kill Smallpox.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 7.—Gov. Matthews has decided to give the Indiana authorities at least $10,000 for use in attacking the spread of the small-pox epidemic from that city. In the succeeding weeks he will allow the committee only such amounts as are really needed to pay the expenses of quarantine. Secretary Metcalf of the State Board of Health says that there are now 1,000 cases of small-pox in the city and that he expected yesterday there are now in the city twenty-three cases, nine of which are in adults. So far the disease has not resulted from the small-pox vaccine. Apprehension exists because of the approach of cold weather, which does not tend to develop the disease. The death rate is still high. The last week has shown an increase in the number of cases.

YELLOW FEVER IN GEORGIA.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 7.—The Brunswick Board of Health reported twenty-four new cases of yellow fever yesterday. Ten of the persons afflicted are white and fourteen colored. One death has been reported from Jekyll Island. Jessop reported its second death yesterday morning and Dr. Brandy of that place is in a critical condition. There is no fever at Frederica, which has been developing rapidly. The food supply is becoming more and more scarce. The epidemic is still in full force, particularly when speaking of the family or parents.

In answer to the reporter's questions Hadlach stated that he had been sick and had not been working for some weeks past. He had been ill for a month and had not had an object in robbing anyone. He was troubled with a disease of the kidneys and had received an injury to the spine. The doctor said he had an attack of grippe which he contracted two years ago and had affected his mind. This and the grippe had affected his mind and the robbery was committed while temporarily insane.

COMPLETION OF THE WORK OF MAKING THE AWARDS.

Some Interesting Rings of Horses Displayed To-Day—Work Accomplished by the Elephant in Harrowing the Track—The Week's Attendance Has Been Satisfactory—Features of the Day.

The thirty-third St. Louis Fair began to have a grand day and to-morrow will be a fitting of the past. The horsemen and cattlemen and the exhibitors of all kinds will be carrying off their shows and their prizes, leaving the grounds as they are during the other fifty-one weeks of the year. The beginning of the end was plainly noticeable in the secretary's office, where a small army of clerks was busy making out vouchers and orders for cash premiums, medals and diplomas, according to the decisions of the judges. All of the prizes had been awarded, and every article entered for a prize given due attention. Mr. Brush had finished a week of hard work judging cattle rings and all he had to do was to stand around and see the sights. The horse sales were over and Tattersall's box had been carried away. The cattle, however, were all interested and nothing was moved on until to-morrow morning. The attendance was fairly good and a class to suit the most particular. The Fair management expresses itself as satisfied with the net results of this year.

The amphitheater turned up several very interesting rings of horses to-day and one or two which were exceedingly so. The saddle rings were declared by all horsemen present to be really exceptional. Then there were pony contests in which no pony was too small to enter, but many were far too large and had to be ruled out. It was well up to the time for the races on the big track before the judges got through their work in the various rings shown.

The cowboys, that is the "boys" employed by the stockmen to look after the cattle which were shown during the week, had a grand celebration last night out in the neighborhood of the cattle pens and turned up this morning looking very shabby. The "boys" range in age from 16 to 80, and are probably already in prime condition, having been awarded yesterday afternoon, the "boys" were allowed to indulge in a few sips of beer and unlimited sandwiches, and receiving visits from stable boys over on the big track. Despite the tired feeling they all declared this morning that they had had a regular blue-ribbon time, in the sense that presumably that it was a prize winner and not a cold water consolation.

The Fair Grounds elephant went his first mile this morning in a little over 50 minutes. He went around the Amphitheater four times, dragging the harrow to rake up the track properly, and then went the same distance again with the brush heap to smooth it down. This patient old beast drags the road about six or seven miles every day, and when he is not working at the fair, he doesn't make half the fuss about it either. It takes five round trips on the big track to clean it. It is only after they have gone more on the inside course to put that into shape. It makes the old fellow sweat, but he never complains or cuts up.

ABOUT TOWN.

TRYING TO SELL STOLEN PROPERTY.—Frank Blair, a well-known police character, was arrested yesterday at 12.30 p.m. for selling $250 worth of jewelry which had been stolen in the morning from Henry E. Beckman's residence at 16th and Locust streets.

STARRED OVER BREWER.—Gus Bloetz, 19, was arrested at 1716 South Eighth street, stabled Thomas Fawcett, 21, and Wm. B. Brinkley, 20, of the same street, near the Soulard market last night. He is 28 years of age and lives at 1231 South Seventh street. He was charged with having been a member of the gang of desperadoes who recently terrorized the city.

TAKEN BACK TO JEFFERSON COUNTY.—John Jacobson, who was arrested yesterday at 12.30 p.m. for breaking and entering, was taken to Jefferson County this morning by Deputy Sheriff Edwin Garrett of Jefferson County.

ROBBED OVER BREWER.—The Board of Health, as its measure yesterday afternoon, passed a resolution extending to the delegates of the State Sanitary Association the fear that unless the prisoners were released some might escape.

An order was given for the removal of the prisoners to the State Sanatorium, and yesterday Sheriff Garrett, assisted by a number of deputies, transferred sixteen persons.

A beautiful woman in a beautiful gown is the way they describe her.

"The Rev. Dr. Morgan Dix finds fault with women," says the New York Sun,

"for thinking more about their personal charms than about their souls, but Miss Mabel Jenness feels it her duty to instruct them as to the best use of those charms in the attainment of a 'correct and elegant carriage,' and by the proper 'artistic care of the body.' In her view the soul expresses itself through the body, and action goes on between the two, with the result that physical grace has a moral value."

As Mrs. Jenness-Miller is known the world over for her ideas on dress reform, so her sister, Miss Mabel Jenness, whose likeness is given above, is celebrated for her crusade for physical culture among the poorer, harder-working women finds.

And this great remedy that makes people well is equally within the reach of all. It is for sale in every respectable drug store in the country, and is in greater demand to-day than any remedy in the world.

It is the one true specific for diseases arising from a debilitated nervous system, probably the most remarkable remedy that the scientific research of this country has produced. Prof. Edward E. Phelps, D. D., LL. D., of Dartmouth College, first prescribed what is now known the world over as Paine's celery compound, a positive cure for dyspepsia, biliousness, liver trouble, neuralgia, rheumatism and kidney trouble. For the latter Paine's celery compound has succeeded and again when everything else failed.

Washington correspondents have recently given it a great deal of attention since the cure effected in that city.

The medical journals of the country have given more space in the last few years to the many remarkable cases where the use of Paine's celery compound has made people well than to any other one subject. Try it and be better.

SHE IS A WHISTLER.

Miss Lettie Crowe Will Probably Appear at the Exposition.

THE YOUNG LADY IS A RESIDENT OF ST. LOUIS.

Leader Sousa's Valued Collection of Beethoven's Music and His Wife's Devotion to Him—Miss Blauvelt on American and European Audiences—Sunday-School Children's Day at the Exposition.

Manager Frank Galennie of the Ex is a great lover of home talent and industries as well, and, as a result, he is seeking to close a contract with Miss Lettie Crowe of 28th Ward avenue for next week. Miss Crowe is well-known in local society circles as a whistler, and it is said that she is quite an artist in this line. Miss Crowe walked into Manager Galennie yesterday and said she would like to appear before an Exposition audience.

"What's your line?" asked the stage manager, as he sized up the prepossessing young lady.

"I'm a whistler," came the quick response, "and I can whistle every tune that's whistable. I think I'm better than Mme. Shaw, only she's got the reputation. I have only whistled for pleasure and sociability, thus far, or perhaps I would be as famous as Mme. Shaw. At any rate I would like a trial."

Manager Galennie promised to think the matter over, and last night he decided to make Miss Crowe an offer, to give the Ex a girl of her whistling ability.

Leader Sousa's "Salute of All Nations" is now ready to be put on and next Monday it will be heard for the first time. There are many catchy effects in the execution of the great musical patchwork. Such grand national airs as the "Marseillaise," "Hall Columbia," "The Star Spangled Banner," "God Save the Queen," "Die Wacht Am Rhine," and many others will be rendered by a full chorus of forty voices, with instruments of all kinds, cornets, mandolins, cornets and trombone manipulators. The military effect will be maintained by the band of the Royal Guards. This same effect, with a few changes, was executed by Leader Sousa in New York, and for actual purposes, the band of the Royal Guards by a battery of artillerymen. Alex Robertson and Peter Perry, both well known pipers, will furnish the bag-piping.

The work of several High School committees was accepted and their bills recommended for payment. The total amount recommended is $10,000 to be paid the Modern Heating Co. on account for apparatus at the High School, $1,000 to be paid to Contractor Keefe for work on the same building. The committee also accepted the new Arlington and Reddick school buildings.

Director Rutledge submitted the following statement to the Post-Dispatch:

"The committee recommended that $10,000 be paid to the Modern Heating Co. on account for apparatus at the High School, $1,000 to be paid to Contractor Keefe for work on the same building. The committee also accepted the new Arlington and Reddick school buildings.

Very few people who have sat before Leader Sousa are aware that the little baton he wields in each concert is composed of 114 pieces of wood. It is a piece of art in its line and was made entirely by hand. It was presented to Mr. Sousa in Washington, D. C., by the Washington Opera Association.

Mr. Sousa has many valuable and beautiful batons which were presented to him by various artists. One of these is of ebony wood, and another of silver, and is a miniature representation of the earth in silver, and the earth crowned by an eagle in gold. Another is a hand-baton, the handle of which is studded with diamonds. There are still others of various kinds, wood, rich ebony, and silvered. Mr. Sousa will never be able to use all the batons he has and many of them he prizes too highly to use as sticks, but nevertheless his collection represents a small fortune, however.

A most affectionate scene is enacted on the Exposition stage almost every evening just before Leader Sousa is called on for the first concert. Mrs. Sousa, a sweet and lovely little lady, is always on hand at this moment and it would be a cure for all disbelievers in the fidelity of married life if they but gazed upon this couple. Mrs. Sousa takes her handkerchief from her pocket and brushes the shoulders of the director, and then she takes off his collar and stood off a moment to look at him, the two naturally draw toward each other, secure in their love of music, and Leader Sousa dashes out on the stage, ready and eager to begin the musical fray.

Mme. Lillian Blauvelt changed her mind about singing the grand valses and songs from "Home and Juliet" last evening and substituted the very pretty "Cecilia." Yesterday she consented to sing to the accompaniment of brasses. Last night was the first time Mme. Blauvelt ever sang to these instruments, and her singing was more beautiful and effective than ever. For the "Home and Juliet" vespers, she sang with the same accompaniment and she set the immense audience wild with delight. When the madame came on the stage, she was greeted with a unanimous ovation. She said, "are wonderfully enthusiastic and appreciative. In Europe the people are less sentimental and more matter-of-fact, especially among the higher classes and the nobility of Russia. If a singer renders a piece of music in a Russian way, the Russian listeners there are no hand clapping at all, but both ladies and gentlemen seize their valuable jewels, pull them out and wave them in the air, and then necks and cast them at your feet. I have a magnificent collection of jewels presented to me after this fashion and I tell you I prize them most highly."

One of the grandest sights that will be witnessed at the Exposition this year is booked for the night of Oct. 16, which has been named for the Knights MacCabebs and Sunday-school children. There will be fully 800 of the Knights MacCabebs and 1,000 Sunday-school children. They will take possession of the immense stage of Music Hall, while the band will go into the orchestra pit. The coming of the Knights MacCabebs will, no doubt, be a grand effect. It will be the same chorus which was heard with so much pleasure during the grand opening of the Exposition.

The children are now rehearsing under the instruction of Director L. F. Lindsey, in various churches throughout the city. The Knights MacCabebs represented. They are the American, Missouri and Kruger tents.

Six sample programmes gotten up by Leader Sousa were presented to the public of Indianapolis, Ind., a few days since for a vote. The programmes represented classical music and popular airs. The expression of the people was unaninimous in favor of the six sample programmes, and the six sample programmes will go to Indianapolis after the St. Louis engagement.

Next Monday night will be Epworth League night at the Exposition. There will be special music by the band and Leader Sousa will be present. The Epworth boys have a march that will be played for the first time that night.

Next Wednesday night will be devoted to the Young Men's Social Union. There is some talk of the Social Union boys introducing some interesting special features on this occasion.

To-night's programme is as follows:

CONCERT—7 TO 8.

Preludes—"Shirley," "The Beggar Student," "Carlo," "Peer Gynt," "Midsummer Night's Dream," "The Star Party," "Sousa Cavalier solo—"Officer," "Clock."

(Miss Kou kindly volunteers for the occasion in company with Mr. Sousa.)

CONCERT—9 TO 10.

Overture—"Patriots," "Peer Gynt," "Grieg," "Value," "The Musical Slave Dance."

Suite—"The Last Days of Pompeii," "Sousa Cavalier," "Lester Novelty."

March—"Loyal Legion."

BUTLEDEN'S LANGUAGE.

The Shaw School Shed "Better Than the Homes of Most Pupils."

Director Rutledge made an oral report last night to the Building Committee of the School Board upon the condition of the ramshackle wood shed which some of the children of the Shaw School have been made to occupy for lack of room. The report consisted of a tirade against all the newspapers because of the expose of the fact that the children were being subjected to confinement in unsatisfactory quarters, and the director felt that the good shed was not a proper place for the accommodation of the pupils. Notwithstanding the fact that the structure is only a temporary place in which to open up between the school outside, the committee voted that it was good enough, and better than the homes of most of the pupils. When Post-Dispatch reporter visited the place some days ago, there was water on the floor, and the windows were broken, and the door to beat the room. It is not a fit place for any human being to be placed in. Director Rutledge said he had written to the school board, and was not responsible for this state of things, anyway, as there would be plenty of room in the school building if the Teachers' Committee would arrange classes properly and the school district boundaries were changed.

Continued his fight against Plumbing Inspector Hennessy by reporting as an expert that the school was not fit for the school board to meet in.

Alex Robertson and Peter Perry, both well known pipers, will furnish the bag-piping.

The work of several High School committees was accepted and their bills recommended for payment. The total amount recommended is $10,000 to be paid the Modern Heating Co. on account for apparatus at the High School, $1,000 to be paid to Contractor Keefe for work on the same building. The committee also accepted the new Arlington and Reddick school buildings.

Leader Sousa's "Salute of All Nations" is now ready to be put on and next Monday it will be heard for the first time. There are many catchy effects in the execution of the great musical patchwork. Such grand national airs as the "Marseillaise," "Hall Columbia," "The Star Spangled Banner," "God Save the Queen," "Die Wacht Am Rhine," and many others will be rendered by a full chorus of forty voices, with instruments of all kinds, cornets, mandolins, cornets and trombone manipulators. The military effect will be maintained by the band of the Royal Guards. This same effect, with a few changes, was executed by Leader Sousa in New York, and for actual purposes, the band of the Royal Guards by a battery of artillerymen. Alex Robertson and Peter Perry, both well known pipers, will furnish the bag-piping.
